

REVENUE IN PANAMA

CENTRAL AND SOUTH AMERICA.

The Revolution in Panama--Business Paralyzed--A Counter Uprising Looked For.

By the arrival of the steamship Henry Channey at the port of New York, we have mail dates from Central and South America to the 20th instant.

The Times' correspondent, writing from Panama on the 20th, says: "My last, mailed two days since, left the state of affairs in the interior of the State in a good degree of doubt, but it even now gives very positive news.

Trade is at a stand-still, and industry completely paralyzed. The railroad and steamship companies have been ordered to stop work, and labor, as most of the able-bodied workers have taken to the bush for fear of being seized and thrust into the army.

We have a report that ex-President Mosquera will soon be here at Buenaventura, in the State of Cauca, from where he has been banished by the national Government at Bogota.

A gentleman has arrived at Aspinwall as messenger from the agent in charge of the United States Legation at Caracas, with letters to the Consul there, asking for immediate assistance of a man-of-war at Puerto Cabello and Lagayra.

It is reported that 4000 men were marching on Puerto Cabello, and were on the point of attacking it. It is not known here to day if the Consul at Aspinwall, in the state of things on the isthmus, can consistently ask the Saco to go to the aid of the Republic.

Prospects of a Revolution in Peru--War with Spain--Affairs with Chili. The correspondent of the New York Tribune writing from Lima, Peru, July 14, says: "The prospect of a revolution in Peru is dim. Prado's party is rapidly fading away, as the Ex-dictator is not particularly anxious to take the measure of a revolution in Peru, and he and his adherents are downcast in the absence of their chief.

Some anxiety exists as to the choice of Ministers. If, in this most important step, the public confidence in the existing administration is not restored, the revolution in Peru is now considered virtually ended, and the apparition of the Spanish squadron on this coast would excite a degree of antipathetic feeling only second to that which prevailed in 1864, when the Spanish Admiral, Pinzon, took possession of the Islands of Chincha.

THE CRISIS IN SPAIN. General Prim Issues a Manifesto. An address to the people of Spain by General Prim is published in the London papers. It is headed "The present reactionary ministry, in whose hands, by order of the Crown, the destiny of the country has been confided, is an arbitrary government."

MEXICO. England and the Mexican Ports--The Herald's correspondent, writing from Matanzas, July 2, says: "England must not think, because Mexico is without a fleet, that she is not a power to be reckoned with."

SHOT-GUNS AND SLUGS. Fatal Duel near the City of New Orleans. The New Orleans Republican, of the 26th, says: "Yesterday morning, about 10 o'clock, a duel was fought near the city of New Orleans, between two young men, the one of whom was a member of the Third Justice's Court on Friday afternoon,
